

Counseling services available on site
for any child who needs a help.

September 2020

Dear Parent or Guardian,

The 2020 school year is like no other. More than ever, parents, teachers, and school counselors will need to partner to help kids who struggle with stress, anxiety, depression, trauma, and behavioral issues stemming from underlying mental health conditions.

Christian Family Solutions (CFS) has partnered with Kingdom Prep Lutheran High School to provide on site counseling services to help children who may be exhibiting symptoms of anxiety, depression, attention deficit, impulse control, or a variety of other mental health and behavioral issues. CFS combines the unconditional love of Jesus with effective counseling strategies. Students who have accessed counseling services in the past have been able to become more focused, resilient, and ready to learn. Most of all, they are reassured that they are dearly loved children of God.

The services of Christian Family Solutions are clinical mental health services. Should your child be in need of services, your school administration will inform you of the recommendation and will make a counseling referral. You may also request services for your child. Please talk with your school principal about how to engage our services.

We love the children of Kingdom Prep Lutheran High School. We are blessed by this partnership, and by the relationships we build with the children we serve. We pray that we can be a supportive resource to them and to you as well.

Warm regards,

Shem Biebert
